DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK By Edson R. Waite, Shawnee, Oklahoma

RALPH G. BRAY, EDITOR OF THE MISSION (TEXAS) TIMES, SAYS:

THAT the success and failure of small town merchants will be written in the advertising columns of their local newspaper. Chain stores have been made out to be a bugaboo to the small town and the fellow that howls the loudest is the merchant who refuses to modernize his business and apply the same progressive principles adopted by the chains. Instead of being a liability, the chain store is rapidly becoming an asset, and the old time home-town merchant who refuses to see the light of a new day in business is the fellow who is going to close up shop—and should close up. Such a merchant is anything but an asset to a community for he drives trade elsewhere and every business in the town pays the price.

The biggest successes in merchandising during the next few years are going to be the retail proprietors who intelligently apply the most printer's ink. The day of hand-rubbing and wishing behind the counter are over. I have seen business men in my town go to the wall because of a pernicious penny-minded policy of publicity and advertising. They said they could not cope with the chains and blamed the chains for a number of ills. BUT I KNEW THE PRINCIPAL REASON—IT WAS ADVERTISING—THE LACK OF IT.

The Anvil Herald is here to help you make your business an ASSET to the town.
Ring Telephone 127 and let us serve you.

PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT'S MASS MEETING.

The regular monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association was held at the High School auditorium on Monday afternoon with a good attendance, despite the inclement weather. Mrs. E. J. Leinweber presided over the meeting.

The usual opening was dispensed with in order to give time to Miss Sights, teacher of Expression, whose primary pupils entertained the audience with a number of delightful readings, as follows:

"The Story" and "My Family", Norma Jane Bless.

"Regular Little Wiggler" and "Experience", Jonell Gaines.

"Mother Reads a Story" and "My Great-Grandmother", Betty Jean Merriman.

"The Eater" and "Didn't Think", Mildred Van Fleet.

The business meeting followed the program.

Treasurer Mrs. Tom Holloway reported a balance of $62.20 on hand.

Vice-President Mrs. Ben Oefinger reported two new names added to the membership list, Mrs. Matt Rath and Mrs. Ernest Britsch.

Mrs. Fletcher Davis gave a report of the meeting of the County P. T. A. Council held at Seco Community in December.

Supt. Barry, chairman of the committee appointed to purchase a victrola for the school, reported not yet ready with final report.

Ways and means of making money to meet the organization's obligations were discussed at length. A motion to tax members to meet all needs was killed by a majority vote, as was one to put on a cake sale. Finally, a motion to appoint a committee, whose duty it shall be to plan and carry to success a play, operetta or entertainment that will call into operation the working-together ability of the community, met with the favor of the assembly and was carried by a large majority and the following committee was appointed: Mrs. Horace Bradley, Superintendent J. G. Barry, Mrs. Earl Starnes, Mrs. Earl Boon, Mrs. W. H. Smith and Miss Vera Lee Cook.

The meeting thereupon adjourned without date.

A SAD TRAGEDY.

About three o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Edward Koehler left the house. His mother thought nothing of it at the time, but later when she noticed he did not return and that the gun was missing, when the children returned from school she sent them to look for their brother.

About six o'clock his lifeless body was found in one of the goat pens near the house. A bullet hole was in the center of his forehead and a target rifle with an empty shell in the chamber was lying by his side.

Justice of the Peace H. V. Haass held an inquest and rendered a verdict of suicide.

The unfortunate man was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Koehler, who reside on the old Albert Pichot farm, about six miles northwest of town, which place they purchased several years ago. He was about 32 years of age and had never married. He had been in bad health recently and this is thought to be the cause of the terrible deed.

His remains were buried Thursday afternoon in Oakland Cemetery, Rev. H. A. Heinke conducting the funeral service.

His griefstricken parents and other relatives have the sympathy of all.

TEXAS & TEXANS

TEXAS AND TEXANS.

By Will H. Mayes

Manufacturing Increases

More manufacturing enterprises were started in Texas in 1929 than in any previous year in the history of the State. The 1930 census will show that Texas has been making vast strides as a manufacturing State in the past ten years. Outside capital is seeking investments in Texas industries, and enough Texans were losers in the recent Wall Street panic to result in keeping more Texas money at home for investment.

1930 should be a great year for establishing Texas factories.

Every chamber of commerce in the State should resolve to secure at least one manufacturing industry for its town during the year and work toward that end until it is secured. Surely in every town some manufacturing plant could be made to succeed. Buda, a mere village near the line of Hays and Travis county, set a fine example awhile back in building a cheese factory.

Increasing Capital

When the Borden company decided to invest $200,000 in a milk products plant at Waco about a year ago many wiseacres shook their heads and predicted failure. The only failure the company made was in not building a plant big enough. The investment will be increased to $500,000 and the plant enlarged.

Worthy Man Promoted

Texans who know him, and there are thousands who know him to love him, are delighted that General John A. Hulen has been made vice-president of the Fort Worth and Denver and the Wichita Valley Railroad Companies. His splendid administration of the receivership of the Trinity and Colorado Valley road marks him as a man of extraordinary business acumen, and has added to his lustre as a soldier and statesman. No man stands higher in the esteem of the people of the State.

Texas for Texans

Perhaps District Attorney Valls muddled up things a bit down at Laredo and his indiscretion may have caused Laredo some temporary business loss, but to demand his resignation in order to hold the favor of Mexican officials is to place business above patriotism and to allow the Mexican government to dictate who shall and shall not hold office in Texas, something that is simply unthinkable to most Texas citizens. Texas will continue to be governed by Texans and not by Mexico, and the cutting off of a little Mexican trade will not change conditions.

Fannin County Courthouse

It is unfortunate that some valuable records were lost when the Fannin County courthouse burned, but they should not have been kept so long in an old firetrap. Such records should have been in a building as nearly fireproof as a building can be built. While the new courthouses all over Texas are architecturally beautiful, they are not erected merely as something to be proud of, but for the safekeeping of public and private documents of value. If the records could only be saved it would be a good thing if every ancient courthouse in Texas were destroyed and replaced by modern structures.

Barney Youngblood, Texan

Dr. B. Youngblood, formerly director of the agricultural experiment extension work at the Texas A & M. College, has been nominated by Congressman Marvin Jones of Texas for the $5,000 annual Capper award for distinguished service to American agriculture. Youngblood did a great work for Texas agriculture and was untiring in his efforts to advance agricultural interests, but his greatest work has been his scientific study of problems affecting the cotton industry, especially in discovering new uses for cotton. Every Texas farmer will second his nomination eagerly.

A WHOLESALE SLAUGHTER OF JACKRABBITS.

The jackrabbit population ought to be appreciably diminished.

Last Saturday, Adolph J. Graff and Wm. H. Naegelin were in town with 202 sets of jackrabbit ears. These ears were from rabbits which had been killed in just a few nights by Adolph Graff and his brother, Frank Graff. Mr. Naegelin drove his car while one of the other boys sat on the hood and with a shotgun picked off the rabbits as they exposed themselves in the glare of the head-lights. They are easily killed this way and very few misses were made.

These rabbits are so numerous around the green oat fields and are such voracious feeders on the crop that they have become quite a pest, and the county commissioners are paying a bounty of five cents on every pair of ears brought in. Messrs. Graff and Naegelin pocketed $10.10 of bonus money for their kill, a little "Believe it or not," the Llano News reprints that the thermometer at Llano registered seven below zero during the December cold spell, that water pipe without a drop of water in them burst, and that it was stated that milk froze in streams as it was being milked from the cows and was carried from the barns to the houses across the arms like stovewood is building. For further information call or address W. B. Collins, Llano, Texas.

Prized Christmas Card

Frank Cates of the Bartlett Tribune-News received a $10 bill as a Christmas card from a friend whom he had rendered some special service last year. If all the friends that big-hearted Cates went out of his way to serve had been only half as considerate, he would have the most sizable bank account in Bartlett.

Frank Cates is the son of a Methodist preacher and still believes as he was taught early, that the best way to get joy out of life is to do as many good turns as possible for his fellowmen.

Stays on the Job

There is a reason why Editor-Publisher Alford of the Granger News gets out one of the best-edited, best-printed weekly newspapers in Texas. He doesn't turn in his copy hurriedly to go fishing, leaving the printers to fill up and get out the paper as best they can, but watches the forms until the last paper is off the press. Therefore, he has started off the New Year with his paper as full of advertising as though we were the fall business rush season.

Strutting Its Stuff

When a town ships a million pounds—48 solid cars—of any single commodity in two months it has a right to be proud, but when that commodity is turkeys that town has a right to strut. This is what Brady did in November and December, and dealers are expecting to send out 10 more cars in January. The average price paid has been 20 cents a pound.

Diversification Makes Prosperity

The Lampasas Record tells why Lampasas county is prosperous. It is because the farmers diversify and ship out more produce than they ship in. During 1929, 827 solid carloads of farm products were shipped from Lampasas, diversified as follows: 195 cars of oats, 22 of wheat, 39 of corn, 19 of pecans, 92 of wool and mohair, 124 of sheep and goats, 113 of cattle, 12 of hogs, 53 of dressed poultry, 67 of eggs, 19 of cotton seed and 71 of other commodities besides 3,855 bales of cotton. This does not include local freight and large shipments of poultry and other produce by truck. Lometa is another Lampasas county town that prides itself in rivaling Lampasas as a shipping point.

Merging the Papers

Many weekly newspapers are following the example of other business and forming mergers. The latest to merge are the Hallettsville New Era and the Herald, which will hereafter be the New Era-Herald with Leo Strauss and Richard W. Metzen owns. This is the first time in 41 years that Hallettsville has had only one English paper, and both the papers and the town should profit by the consolidation.

Round Rock Needs It

Editor Kavanagh of the Round Rock Leader says that his leading ambition for 1930 is to be able to buy a type-setting machine and give Round Rock an eight page paper instead of the four page paper he now gets out. If Round Rock merchants would only double their advertising, he could easily double the size of the paper. They should by all means do this. Round Rock is a good little city in the center of a fine farming country, and with the aid of his family of writers and printers, Kavanagh is prepared to issue as good a paper as the patronage will justify.

more than enough to pay for the ammunition, and they had the sport besides.

CHEVROLET EXPECTING RECORD YEAR.

Detroit, Mich., January 11—Following the announcement seven days ago of the improved 1930 Chevrolet Six at greatly reduced prices, the Chevrolet Motor Company last week launched manufacturing and sales activities designed to meet the requirements of what promises to be another record year for the public acceptance of six cylinder automobiles.

Factory officials expressed themselves as highly gratified over the reception of the new Chevrolet Six at the New York National Automobile Show last week. Thousands of orders and hundreds of congratulatory letters from the nationwide Chevrolet dealer organization told something of the success with which the new product is meeting across the United States.

Meanwhile, so that the thousands of orders already on hand may be taken care of with a minimum of delay, the 16 giant Chevrolet plants are speeding toward capacity operation with all the haste consistent with Chevrolet's precision manufacturing methods. Employment at the Chevrolet factory is at the highest January level in the history of the Company with many of the plants maintaining two shifts.

At the same time the sales division under the direction of H. J. Klinger, vice-president and general sales manager, sounded the formal opening gun of a nationwide sales campaign, Wednesday, January 8, at a mammoth Chevrolet dealer meeting in New York City. Two thousand dealers from various parts of the Atlantic seaboard heard the Chevrolet sales chief outline the Company's plans for the year.

The New York meeting was the first of a series of 41 similar gatherings that will be held this winter from coast to coast in a comprehensive effort to appraise the Company's far flung dealer organization of the plans which Chevrolet has arranged for 1930. In the course of these meetings, which will continue until the third week in February, every Chevrolet dealer in the United States will have the opportunity of listening at first hand to the Chevrolet message for 1930 and talking with Central Office officials.

Gatherings in each city embrace a business show in the afternoon and a banquet in the evening. The afternoon business meeting is perhaps the most unique and comprehensive ever undertaken by a large industrial organization.

These business meetings feature a number of playlets graphically depicting the successful operation of a retail automobile business in its various phases. All parts are played by members of the Chevrolet organization.

To make this business show possible more than a carload of drops, curtains and stage fixtures are taken to each city. Perhaps $50,000 worth of show equipment is required to stage the afternoon performance. A group of professional stage hands travel with the party and handle the work backstage.

In order to get the Chevrolet message over to the dealer organization in as short a space of time as possible, four groups of officials are conducting meetings simultaneously. Heading the party that will conduct meetings in the southwest, California and the Pacific northwest will be D. E. Raiston, assistant general northeastern cities will be in charge sales manager. The party making of J. C. Chick, assistant general sales manager, while the meeting in the southeast will be conducted by M. D. Douglas, parts and service manager. R. K. White, advertising manager, heads the group handling meetings in the central section of the country.

FORD'S ROAD RULES.

Henry Ford once was an auto racer and has driven many cars for pleasure and business since then. From observation and experience he has developed these "rules of the road" for his own guidance and recommends them to other motorists:

Courtesy comes first. Consider the rights and privileges of others.

Keep your mind on your driving, and anticipate sudden emergencies.

Learn the "feel" of having your car under control.

Obey all traffic and parking regulations.

Keep to the right and comply with road markings and signs.

Signal for stops and turns, the car ahead.

Slow down at crossings, and dangerous places.

Never pass cars on hills, curves.

Adapt your driving to road conditions—rain, ice, soft spots and such.

It doesn't pay to take the "right way" too seriously.

When you drive, remember times when you're a pedestrian.

Know the law. It was passed for your protection.

NEW DEVELOPMENTS IN 1930 OAKLAND-PONTIAC LINE.

Recent rumors of new developments in the Oakland-Pontiac for 1930 found ample basis here today with the first display of the latest products of the Oakland Motor Car Company.

While retaining its established position in the six cylinder field with the New Series Pontiac Big Six which presents many mechanical refinements the company now has entered the eight cylinder field with a moderate-priced high-powered type Oakland that offers new peaks in power, speed and acceleration. The new Oakland is the only motor car in its price field powered with a "V" engine.

Developed during three years of intensive experiment and research the sturdy compact new Oakland engine employs many new but thoroughly proved principles of design which enable it to establish remarkable standards of performance.

Entirely without torsional vibration at any engine speed, the new power plant develops 85 horsepower at 3000 r. p. m. from a displacement of 251 cubic inches. This remarkable output of power is due to several new factors, including the complete down draft type of carburetion, the new type of high-compression two-plane cylinder heads and the horizontal valve design. These features and many others permit the development of 85 horsepower with a gasoline economy approximately the same as that of the previous Oakland Six which was rated at 65 brake horsepower. The comparatively short design of the "V" engine which in the new Oakland is only 25 9/16 inches long, has enabled the Oakland engineers to retain the 117 inch wheelbase of the Oakland Six while allowing even more passenger room.

The new Oakland's tremendous power in a chassis of moderate weight gives a ratio of one horsepower to each 37 pounds of car weight—the secret of the high speed, fast acceleration and flexibility of which the new car is capable.

The simple compactness of the V-type engine has been highly capitalized by the adoption of a "square" bore to stroke ratio. The bore of 3 7/16 inches is slightly greater than the stroke of 3 3/8 inches. The short stroke greatly reduces the development of inertia forces by reciprocating parts inside the engine. The V design also permits the use of ample cooling passages around the widely spaced cylinders and valves.

Another new development is the fact that both blocks of cylinders and the crankcase are formed in a single, solid, compact, heavily-ribbed casting, affording a rigid foundation for the big crankshaft bearings. Full adjustable pressure lubrication is provided to all vital parts of the engine.

Again meriting its long reputation as an automobile pioneer, Oakland has developed an entirely new type of engine mounting for the Eight. The two forward engine mountings are designed in the form of flat laminated springs. While rear rubber mountings restrain the engine from motion relative to the car frame, these front spring type mountings serve to absorb the normal reactions of engine operation. In order to prevent the spring type mountings from permitting the engine to respond to road shocks a new device—the "synchronizer" was invented. It provides a lateral tie rod, solidly bolted to the right side of the frame and extending through an opening into the crankcase. There its point of contact with the engine is a vertical rocker arm which is moved slightly from side to side by a cam on the forward end of the camshaft.

Synchronized with the normal engine reactions, this simple device permits the springs on which the front of the engine is mounted to absorb these microscopic reactions but, through its anchorage on the car frame, prevents outside shocks from communicating extreme motion to the engine. This revolutionary engine mounting, in conjunction with the rubber cushion drive connecting the power plant and the propeller shaft, develops a high degree of engine smoothness. The carefully balanced clutch, shaft and rear end all have been increased in size to handle the greater power of the new Eight engine. In the Pontiac Six four point rubber mountings insulate the engine from the frame.

The thermostatically controlled cooling system of the new "V" Eight provides a new "recirculation" feature which contributes importantly toward better performance and higher efficiency. In other types of cooling the water becomes stagnant in the cylinder block and head when the thermostat valve is closed, permitting water in some of the engine passages to remain cool while steam is being formed in other spots. This condition causes uneven expansion and inefficient operation during the warming up period. In the new Oakland a small by-pass connects the water pump with the cylinder head outlet manifold, thus allowing water, trapped in the engine by the closed thermostat value, to keep circulating within the engine. Recirculation of this trapped water maintains uniform engine temperature until release of the thermostat extends the circulation on through the radiator.

Contributing still further to the effectiveness of both the new Oakland Eight and also the New Series Pontiac Big Six is the Cross-Flow design of radiator which remains an exclusive feature of these two cars.

Because the Cross-Flow radiator so effectively prevents evaporation, it is asserted that one filling of alcohol or other anti-freeze solution usually proves adequate to protect the cooling system from freezing during the entire winter of driving.

Both cars which originally introduced the pump type of fuel feed to the automotive industry continue to employ the highly effective AC fuel pump which provides exactly the proper amount of fuel at all speeds and prevents "starving" on long up grades.

Many other late developments also are to be found on both the Oakland and Pontiac. One of these is the safety device by which danger of operating without lubrication is obviated in the remote event that the oil pump should fail to function.

In such an emergency the shearing of a small pin would stop the distributor and halt the engine, preventing possible damage from lack of oil.

Another "mutual" feature of the two cars is an arrangement which prevents cold oil from piling up on the cleaning screen and hampering circulation when the engine is started during cold weather. When the oil is thick and cold, the overflow from the oil pressure regulator is returned immediately to the pump for recirculation without having to work down through the cleaning screen.

Both cars are protected by crankcase ventilation of the combination pressure suction type which delivers crankcase fumes under the chassis. Removal of fumes and water vapor from the crankcase by the ventilation systems prevents condensation and consequent dilution of the oil. Chassis lubrication of both cars is by high-pressure oil gun. And both cars continue to use the aluminum plugged type of piston pin which prevents annoying piston pin rattle and the valve spring dampener which prevents spring surge or breakage.

Possibility of pre-ignition troubles on either car has been practically eliminated by the adoption of smaller, metric size spark plugs. The distributors on both cars automatically provide proper timing at all engine speeds.

Both also employ a new type of semi-automatic starting motor. In this new design, the starting motor pinion engages the teeth of the flywheel at the first downward movement of the starter pedal, electrical contact and rotation of the starter armature being accomplished only after the starter pinion is in the mesh with the flywheel. This eliminates capping of the teeth on the flywheel gear.

Oakland's original contribution to driver convenience, the toe button control of tilt-ray headlamps, is retained in both the Oakland and the Pontiac for 1930. In the Oakland Eight, a brand new lighting innovation is represented by the indicator lamps, mounted on the two front renders. They not only add a smart touch to the appearance of the car, but provide features of safety and utility as well. Spreading light both ahead and to each side, these lamps serve the same purpose as do the port and starboard lights of a ship by appraising drivers of cars approaching in cross traffic of the presence of the Oakland. Visible also to the driver of the Oakland and automatically turning on when the beams of the main headlamps are depressed, the indicator lamps thus keep the driver informed as to whether his headlamps are in the elevated or depressed position.

An important comfort feature of both cars is found in the rubber cups which seal the brake and clutch pedal openings when the pedals are in normal position, thus preventing summer heat or winter cold from entering the cars. The dash panels are heavily insulated against temperature extremes.

Increased flexibility in the front springs of both the Oakland and the Pontiac results in even greater riding comfort as does also the introduction of solid metal links connecting the Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers with the springs. These solid links, replacing the straps formerly used, assure instantaneous action by the shock absorber pistons. All springs are fitted at the factory with lubricated spring covers which preserve their original resiliency.

The service brakes on both cars are easier to operate and more effective than any previous Oakland-Pontiac brakes. They are of the internal expanding, self-energizing type, individually adjustable and fitted with a design of moulded linings which are said frequently to last for 20,000 to 30,000 miles of service. Ample clearance provides assurance against dragging brakes. Rollers have been placed on the toggle link pins, effecting an appreciable reduction in pedal effort. The emergency brake is connected directly to the service brake.

Newly-designed and smartly appointed new bodies by Fisher confer a new appearance value on both the Oakland and Pontiac lines well in keeping with their greater mechanical excellence and larger capabilities. The seven body models offered in each line include the two-door sedan, four door sedan, custom sedan, standard coupe, sport coupe, sport phaeton.

Special equipment obtainable on all models includes trunk rack and sets of six wire wheels with the spare wheels and tires cradled in front fender wells and secured by chrome-plated retainer clamps.

General Motors' Lowest-Priced Eight the Car with Superior Performance

Today a new eight-cylinder motor car makes its appearance. It is the newest General Motors eight and by several hundreds of dollars the lowest in price. It is the New Oakland Eight with bodies by Fisher.

The New Oakland Eight develops 85 horsepower and is the first stock car of its size and weight to employ an engine of such high power. Since performance depends largely on the ratio between horsepower and weight, the New Oakland Eight is exceptionally fast and powerful because it produces one horsepower to 37 pounds of car weight.

The New Oakland Eight has all the smoothness which results from the overlapping power impulses inherent in eight-cylinder engine design. In addition, it enjoys exclusive mechanical advantages which make it even smoother and more delightful to drive.

Several of the engineers who participated in creating General Motors' first eight back in 1914 were responsible for the development of the New Oakland Eight. To this latest task they brought a wide knowledge of eight-cylinder design. It is reasonable to expect that the Oakland is a finer eight because of this fact.

A demonstration will reveal how well the New Oakland Eight merits the description "the car with superior performance."

The New Oakland Eight, $1045 and up, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers included in list prices. Bumpers, rear fender guards and spring covers extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

NEW SERIES PONTIAC BIG 6

A Famous Name—A Finer Car Introducing Important Improvements

The announcement of the first Pontiac in 1926 brought to the low-price field a new order of beauty, performance and reliability. And each Pontiac announcement since that time has introduced a car which represented an improvement even over its own highly regarded predecessors.

Now comes the New Series Pontiac Big Six—an even finer car with a famous name. It retains all those excellent qualities which have been responsible for Pontiac's success in the past. And in addition it introduces many improvements.

New bodies by Fisher make this latest Pontiac Big Six more beautiful than ever.

The smoothness of Pontiac's 60-horsepower engine is further increased by the use of rubber engine mountings. Pontiac's non-squeak four-wheel brakes are now even more efficient. A sloping non-glare windshield adds to its safety. Greater handling ease results from the use of a new type of steering mechanism. Improved Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers give increased riding comfort.

Come to our showroom and see this finer car with a famous name—the New Series Pontiac Big Six.

GOLDEN WEDDING.

Fifty years ago Mr. Louis Schlentz of Vandenberg and Miss Catharine Oefinger of Quihi were united in marriage in the Quihi Lutheran Church, the Rev. A. Falkenberg officiating.

Last Friday, January 10, this couple fittingly celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon a large number of invited guests assembled in St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Hondo for a church service of thanksgiving unto the Lord. Plans had been made to have the original attendants (Mr. Louis Fous of Castroville and Mrs. Louis Wurzbach of Rio Medina) take a prominent part in the celebration, but both were unable to be present. The venerable celebrants were escorted to the place of honor in front of the altar by two of their granddaughters, Thelma Schlentz and Hilda Poehler, while appropriate music was being rendered by Mrs. C. J. Stiegler. After the reading of Psalm 103 and prayer and the singing of the hymn, "Praise to the Lord, the Almighty, the King of Creation," the pastor delivered the jubilee sermon on the basis of Psalm 126:3; "The Lord hath done great things for us; whereof we are glad." The service was concluded with prayer and by singing the hymn which was sung at the time of the marriage fifty years ago, the last stanza of which reads as follows:

"Jesus still lead on,
Till our rest be won;
Heavenly Leader, still direct us,
Still support, console, protect us,
Till we safely stand,
In our Fatherland."

After the services, the guests drove out to the old homestead at Vandenberg. It was here that Mr. Schlentz had built his first primitive dwelling, under the spreading branches of a giant live-oak. Since that time, a half century has passed, the dwelling has been replaced with a modern residence, the original occupants have become gray, but the old oak stands seemingly unaffected by time, seemingly as young as ever.

Many pleasant memories hover around that tree for the Schlentz family. The Psalmist even compares the child of God with such a tree: "He shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season; his leaf shall not wither; and whatsoever he doeth shall prosper." It was, therefore, quite natural for Mr. and Mrs. Schlentz to order that the golden wedding feast be spread under that tree. And the feast of mutton and veal barbecue and accompaniments was worthy of the stately tree and of the Christian couple which it fittingly symbolized, for it can be said of them: "They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not weary; and they shall walk and not faint."

The benediction of the Lord rests visibly upon them. Among other things, He has blessed them with our sons; Charles, Alfred, Willie and Arthur, and a daughter; Mrs. Win. Poehler.

The guests, departing, assured Mr. and Mrs. Schlentz they had enjoyed the celebration, and wished them God's continued blessing for the remainder of their earthly sojourn.

action. At 3:00 p. m. the Baptist Badgers will start their game against Uvalde at Uvalde; at 3:30 the Owls are engaging the Pearsall Mavericks and at 7:00 (before the dance) the Indians will take the war path for revenge against Pearsall's town team.

Monday is at present open, but it is rumored that Yancey High School and the Badgers may meet on the local court.

Tuesday finds two games on deck. The high school journeying to Knippa to play the return match of the Wednesday night game. At home, the Indians are meeting the Camp Normoyle team at 7:30.

Wednesday night at 7:30 the Owls will play Moore High School on the local court.

BAPTIST BADGERS ELECT CARTER SNOOKS CAPTAIN OF BASKETBALL SQUAD

At the business meeting of the Hondo Baptist Badgers last Monday night, Carter Snooks was elected captain of the basketball team. He will take the position that Glenn Jones has filled so well thus far this year. The Badgers took time in the meeting to start formulating plans for a barbecue-wolf hunt to celebrate their first year as an athletic organization. After taking "skull" practice for a while, the Badgers worked out some new offensive plays and will probably open up against Uvalde High School Saturday evening when they meet the Coyotes on the Uvalde court. The Badgers seem to have about the best defense displayed on the local court this season and with a little variety on the offense should continue their good record, if not improve it.

Games for the Baptists are being requested by various teams and the Badger's schedule will never be shy of games. On the 25th of January the Denver Heights All Stars will meet the locals on the home court.

The All Stars are a team of Brackenridge High School players of this year and previous years. The visitors in all probability will include in their line-up C. Kreiger, captain of this year's Eagle squad, Cholly Flinn, Eagle captain of '29, along with Lully Flinn, all city guard of '29.

February 1 the Badgers return the Devine high school game on the Devine court. The Warhorses are out to avenge their previous defeat at the hands of the Badgers while the Baptists are seeking to repeat the trimming they gave the lanky Devine goalers.

The Saturday following the Devine encounter, February 8, Uvalde High School will be in town for a return match. The Badgers must return the Lytle High School and All Stars game, but have no definite dates for the matches yet. As members of both teams desire to meet in a game, it is thought that Yancey High and the Badgers will tangle in a game in the near future.

EXTRA PERIOD NEEDED FOR PEARSALL TO DOWN HONDO INDIANS 42 TO 35

Game Ends with Both Teams Using But Four Players as Nine Men Put Out for Fouling

An extra period of five minutes, which was finished with but four players on each side, was necessary for Pearsall's Town Team to defeat Hondo's Indians 42 to 35 Tuesday night on the Pearsall court. The game ended with the two teams tied at 35 all and in the extra period Pearsall scored 7 points with the Reds unable to make a tally. With 31 fouls called on the Pearsall squad and 17 on the Indians, Pearsall had six men removed from the game to three chased for the visitors. Lamb of Hondo had the distinction of not having a single foul called on him.

The calling of so many fouls was the result of both teams playing fast on a small court. The low ceiling was a great handicap to the locals all the game.

Thompson of Pearsall lead the scorers with 14 points and was followed by Faseler and Snooks of Hondo and Bohmfalk of Pearsall, all having 10 points each.

The line ups were:

Hondo (35) Pearsall (42) F. Riley (2) (12) Gray (7) Johnson (7) Herring (2) Rhodes (2) Subs: Hondo; f. Rucker. Lytle; dd.

Lytle (12) (24) Lytle (2) Gray (6) (7) Johnson (7) Herring (2) Rhodes (2) Subs: Hondo; f. Rucker. Lytle; dd.

the night match, the score was higher than the evening game although it was a high scoring game. The game ended with the Badger's long end of a 27-24 score. Baptist grabbed the lead at the whistle and were never headed during the game. The Badgers were 8 and 6 at the close of the period and 12 to 10 at the half. The third period ended with the Badgers 16 to 15. In the third and the Badgers took a 10 to 8 lead, but scored only one free throw in the final session while the Lytle did not get 4 points to win the decision.

The line ups were:

Hondo (11) (2) Lytle (2) Gray (6) (7) Johnson (7) Herring (2) Rhodes (2) Subs: Hondo; f. Rucker. Lytle; dd.

Lytle (12) (24) Lytle (2) Gray (6) (7) Johnson (7) Herring (2) Rhodes (2) Subs: Hondo; f. Rucker. Lytle; dd.

The third period ended with the Badgers 16 to 15.

The outstanding performer of the game was Bradley Bailey, who made Lytle boys look sick when they tried to shoot from his side of the court. Not only was Bailey "there" in the defense but was a main cog in stalling offense the Badgers using.

Anton Ellis, Devine high school, referred the game and sped considerably by calling the fouls and fast.

HONDO, TEXAS, JAN. 17, 1930

TEXAS TRAILS.

By Harry Williams

Quite a number of years ago, say 30 or 35, the late Joe Finger of D'Hanis took a $10,000 life insurance policy and bought 5,000 acres of Medina county land with it, land selling at $2 the acre, or maybe as high as $2.50. The heirs of Joe Finger, pioneer, have been offered $80 the acre for it.

The land lies south of D'Hanis a few miles, and is now part of the 17,000-acre tract of ranch and farm land held by the heirs of Joe Finger, pioneer of pioneers. It is in part good black land, 1,500 acres under the plow, the remainder mainly Jaujilla brush hills, a fine ranch land.

Now let's don't me and you get to pitying ourselves that we never have been wise enough to see the great possibilities in South Texas land. Chances are both of us have seen the possibilities—and the same thing was the matter with both of us.

For instance, and speaking in the personal, when Trails first ran down south of San Antonio nine years ago and looked around over the land, under the watchful eye of that eagle, old Doc Sanders of Dilley, right off the real Trails knew the land was selling for less than it would be selling for in a very few years. And Trails has seen the same land double, treble and quadruple in price since then, owing to its location with respect to highways, cities and railroads.

Well, you ask how come he didn't get in on it? For one thing he didn't have a $10,000 life insurance policy. That, and other reasons, same as you had.

But the moral is that Joe Finger, deep thinking, hard working, thrifty, did see the value of the land, and seeing, acted according to his lights, having the wherewithal to act. In his case it was just a $10,000 life insurance policy.

Joe Finger "blew" into Medina county in 1847, at the age of 3 years. He was an Alsace-Lorraine, or whatever you call those folks who for ages have peopled Alsace-Lorraine. From the way they hang on in the history of the world, they must be half and half French and German and have copped off the best there is in each gang. Joe Finger lived to a ripe old age; came up from the property of the wilderness to high estate.

Indians raided the Medina County up until the 1870s, and Joe Finger was an active part of the life of his country. A multitude of experiences were his in the frontier days.

Early in life Joe Finger took a contract, evidently, for rearing a large family. Ten children were born to him and his good wife. All the 10 are living, the parent long ago gone. The sons are, according to ages, Joe, William, Ed, Henry, John, Charles, Frank and Alfred. Three of them live in Hondo; John, who is president of the First National bank there, Charles, assistant cashier in that institution, and Alfred, postmaster at Hondo. The other five are residents of D'Hanis. Between them all they run the extensive ranch and farm.

The two daughters are Mrs. Alfred Zinsmeyer and Mrs. Nick Fohn, both of D'Hanis.

Nobody has, probably, taken account of the grandchildren and great-grandchildren, lately.

But what a time old Joe Finger must have had, rearing and educating 10 children. In a period of American history when large families were the rule, even that must have been a tremendous task. John Finger smiled reminiscently, fondly, there in his bank the other day, one of those tender sort of reminiscent smiles, when he spoke of what job his father had caring for that "big bunch" of children—that's the way he put it.

And this Joe Finger still lives there in the country where he came 83 years ago, when it was a wilderness unmarred, practically, by the touch of man. And he lived to see paved highways and automobiles and airplanes. The Indians that raided them many times, he came to a time when they wore full dress suits, although he probably never caught them that way, in person.

Trails was a visitor with the Hondo Lion's club Monday, and mainly whatever they had in the way of a speaker, him and Kenneth Woodley, district attorney, and the visit impressed him anew with the story of the pioneer, Joe Finger.—San Antonio Light, January 9.

In this land of coffee-drinking Trails has found one old-timer who never, never imbibes that wonderful liquid! He's an old-timer right, too. Has seen the dead left behind when the Indians raided the Medina and Frio ranges. Has herded the long-horn cattle by day and night. (Doubtless he has bucked his game of mount in time, although Trails did not question into his personal ideas of entertainment).

Speaking of I. H. King of Hondo who came into the Hondo country back in 1859, when he was a lad of 11 years. His was the out-door life right of the reel. At 13 he had a dandy little pony all his own, and the Indians came raiding through and stole it. There and then he became an Indian fighter. At least he mounted some other horse, took a gun and joined up with some older men and took the Indian's trail.

Those Indians had come down from the hills north of the Hondo region. You can see those hills lift their blue selves into the blue sky there from Hondo any clear day. And the Indians went south. The gang followed. Soon they came upon a dead white man, scalped, stripped and mutilated. Not a pleasant sight for a boy of 13.

Well, that bunch of Indians rode fast, and rode to a lot of disaster. They kept well ahead of the King kid and his older riders. The red marauders left another white man dead a little further down on which the little boy of 13 gazed. What a training for a child!

That gang of Indians got clear down into the Pleasanton region, says Mr. King. Then they got back to where Devine is, or near that place, where they met up with a band of cowboys. When the meeting was over there were four dead on each side. Then somewhere, back on the way to the hills, a bunch of whites overtook the Indians and got four more of them, without any losses on the side of the whites.

But the boy of 13, burning with a fierce desire to shoot the daylights out of an Indian, and willing to risk his life for the shot, never did come up with them. The Indians moved fast, their trail was lost frequently, and the boy played in hard luck.

Who can furnish us with the names of those four cowboys killed near Devine in 1861? Likewise, the names of the two solitary white men who died out there alone on the lonely ranges.

But just to think that here in this splendid realm which Mr. King helped to salvage from the reign of the reds, he never enjoyed that time of bliss wherein a man takes a "cup of coffee" with his beloved friend, savoring a few moments of bliss from those celebrated, nagging jades, Care and Worry.

Mr. King took a taste of coffee once in his youth, but revolted and dispelled it instantly.

All these years the pioneer who when looking for his lost pony among the Indians, has lived there near and in Hondo. He's retired, and does nothing he doesn't want to do. Blessed state!

These are only a few of thousands of such cases and not a day nor a week passes that does not bring hundreds of statements from the people concerning the good this medicine is doing, and reciting case after case that would convince the most skeptical.

KENTUCKY BOY TESTS WORLD CHAMPION

Hilson Guier with World Champion, Proud Prince's May

"Naturally, I am the happiest boy the attention to feeding, and the necessity of sticking to this routine day in the world," declared young Hilson Guier, of Farmington, Kentucky, after day might well deter any school boy. Yet, inexperienced as he was,ures which showed that his Jersey Hilson Guier, calf club boy, now in cow had broken the world record for first year high school, was able to production in her class.

Two years ago Hilson was just one with his one Jersey cow. There was of the hundreds of thirteen-year-old boys attending public school in Western Kentucky. Shoving and pushing there was no certain reward for the in line, tripping the fellows as they marched up to the teacher's desk. He had confidence in the helper he had purchased, but he did not dream that his cow would break a world record under the most ordinary farm conditions.

In the second month of her test Proud Prince's May produced 85.39 lbs. of butterfat, a yield more than half the average yearly production per cow in the United States. In the fifth month May's total was 93.07 lbs. of butterfat, and the public began to realize that a world record was being broken by an unknown cow under the care of a lively school boy. Then the Guier farm became a mecca for lovers of good dairy cattle.

Now, at fifteen, Hilson Guier is the only calf club boy in the United States to own and officially test a world champion cow. The calf which he purchased two years ago with his first $150 in savings has finished her test and she is the highest producing senior three-year-old Jersey on record, tested for 305 days. Proud Prince's May, his cow, produced 784.04 lbs. of butterfat and 12,624 lbs. of milk in her official 305-day test.

It's a man-size job to do official production testing. The daily weighing of the milk, the record keeping, of the day.

JUNE.

June came tripping o'er the hill,
Trailing a silvery little rill.
She saw the roses, red and white;
The cosmos, disks of brilliant light;
The berries glistening ruby red;
"Now who has passed this way?" she said.

"Full half my work is done, I see.
Each bird and butterfly and bee,
Is sipping honey from the flowers,
Or nestling in the leafy bower.
My mission then is very clear;
It's just to fill the earth with cheer."

I'll have the nicest kind of weather
And ask my friends to come together.
To play and laugh and dance and sing.
With joy, we'll make the whole world ring.
And now—I know who passed this way—
It was my fair young sister, May."

YANCEY NEWS.

Last Thursday evening at 8 o'clock our basketball team met Main Avenue High of San Antonio at Hondo and defeated the Buffalooes 25 to 23. On Saturday night, Yancey's Tigers returned the game in San Antonio and downed Main Avenue 31 to 22. Although the weather was very bad, quite a number of boosters accompanied the team to both places.

We have had quite a spell of bad weather, sleet, freezing and a little rain. Cattle are looking bad but stockmen are burning prickly pear and are keeping them in good shape.

Prof. and Mrs. Roensch and Prof. and Mrs. Stendebach accompanied the ball team to the different places during the week.

Mr. Daniel McCrea went to Hondo on business Monday.

Misses Lucile Shultz, Violet Hall and Martha Berry went to the ball game Saturday.

Mr. Daniel McCrea's father, from Lampasas, is here on an extended visit and will probably remain until spring opens.

QUIHI NOTES.

"Enter ye at the straight gate, for wide is the gate and broad is the way that leadeth to destruction and many there be that go in therewith." Matt. 7: 13.

Sunday school and Bible class begin at Bethlehem Lutheran church at 9:30 Sunday morning. All are welcome to membership in this Sunday school. Come promptly.

Divine service will be held in Bethlehem Lutheran church Sunday in the German tongue at 10:30 and in the English language at 7:00. All are cordially invited to all services at this church.

In the annual meeting of St. John's Lutheran congregation of New Fountain Secretary Christian Nienhoffer's report showed all bills for 1929 paid and the congregation in healthful, flourishing condition. As his own successor in the congregational vestry Mr. Fritz Nienhoffer was elected by a unanimous vote. His installation will take place Sunday, January 26.

Last Sunday night the Quihi Luther League rendered a fine literary musical program. All numbers of the program were rendered excellently and were supplemented by interesting and timely remarks by Mr. Jacob Saathoff. On this occasion the newly installed Deleco light system was given a try-out. It functioned perfectly in every detail to the delight and satisfaction of the large congregation present. By the installation of this lighting system a substantial and valuable improvement has been added to the Bethlehem Lutheran church property of Quini.

In the annual meeting of the Quihi Luther League last Sunday the election of officers resulted as follows: Miss Emma Nienhoffer, vice president; Mr. Anton Greli, secretary; Mr. Kolf Saathoff, treasurer. The treasurer's report showed the League to be in good financial condition and able to give a substantial donation toward the payment for the just installed Deleco light system. The next program by the League will be given February 9.

LIRY SCHOOL NEWS.

The pupils that attained the highest general average during the fourth month of school are: Fifth Grade, Inez Biry; Seventh Grade, Irene Mussmann and Lloyd Biry, tie; Eighth Grade, Lucille Bader, Lillie Watson and Lena Mussmann, tie. Others making a general average of 90 per cent or better are: Fifth Grade, Dorothy Watson; Seventh Grade, Mathilda Biediger; Eighth Grade, Agnes Webster.

During the holiday season the school house was so remodeled that we now have a large school-community auditorium and stage, which has been urgently needed here for many years. Our next forward step will be the addition of appropriate stage scenery and equipment, which will be completed within the next few weeks.

We very much appreciate the donated time and work of the following people in preparing the Xmas tree and preparing for the re-opening of school after the holiday season: W. J. Breiten, Roy Breiten, C. A. Henson, Ed. Bader, Charles Schmidt, Mesdames C. A. Henson, Ira G. Schmidt and Ed. Bader, Misses Ella Bader, Alma Bader, Mathilda Biediger and Agnes Webster.

We expect to have some more practice matches in tennis with the Black Creek School Friday afternoon, January 17, at Biry. In our last match with them in girls' doubles the two teams were unable to break the tie before night, and consequently there was no time left for a match in girls singles. Lucille Bader and Lillie Watson played doubles for Biry. We would like to have match games with other schools in both boys' and girls' singles and doubles.

WARNING.

Owing to scattered cases of smallpox among the Negroes and Mexicans, it is advised that all who have not been successfully vaccinated within the past two years do so now.

TEXAS COMPANY ELECTRICIAN ISSUES STATEMENT.

Orgatone Ends a Six Year Search For C. J. Schexnayder.

Mr. C. J. Schexnayder, residing at 1112 East 14th Street, Port Arthur, Texas, and for the past three years has been an electrician for the Texas Company at the refinery, makes the following statement:

"For the past six years I don't think anyone has suffered more from stomach trouble than I have. I had the worst kind of pains in the pit of my stomach all the time. I was sick at my stomach every morning. I would have dizzy spells and black spots would dance around before my eyes. I had to be very careful what I ate, I could not eat what I wanted for just as sure as I would I would suffer afterward. I was bilious all the time and always had a bad taste in my mouth. I know that my breath was offensive but I could not get anything that would relieve the situation."

"I read in the local papers where Orgatone was highly advertised so I bought a bottle and decided to try it. I am improving so rapidly that I can hardly believe it. The pains have gone from my stomach and I am no longer sick at my stomach in the mornings. The dizzy spells and bilious spells are a thing of the past and the black spots have disappeared from before my eyes. Orgatone has done so much good and it has given me such gratifying results that I feel that I could recommend it to my friends with a money back guarantee from my own pocket."

Genuine Orgatone (Argotone) may be obtained in Hondo at the W. H. Windrow Drug Store.

AL JOLSON TO SING IN SAN ANTONIO ON JANUARY 27

San Antonio—Thousands of Texas admirers of Al Jolson, world famous entertainer, inimitable comedian and singer of "Mammy" ballads, will have an opportunity to see and hear in person the man whose Brunswick records and talking movies have endeared him to millions all over the civilized globe, according to a definite announcement by Harry E. Keller, who is now in San Antonio representing the William Morris Booking Offices of New York and under whose auspices the limited Jolson Concert tour has been arranged.

Jolson will give a single concert performance at the Municipal Auditorium here in San Antonio on Monday evening, January 27.

He is now making a national tour of eight concerts to reestablish his personal contacts with the American public, interrupted by his extended Broadway appearances, and later by his work in the talkies. He will visit El Paso, Tulsa, Oklahoma City and Dallas then San Antonio. His engagement here will be his only one in central Texas.

Jolson recently began his concert tour on the Pacific Coast, and he has been tremendously acclaimed wherever he has appeared. The strength of his unique personality, which has long made him the king of comedians on Broadway, dominates his concert appearances, according to advance notices, and he sings most of his famous "mammy" and "blues" songs from a repertoire of over fifty numbers. He is assisted by a brilliant company of instrumental concert artists, and his programs also include several new songs never before heard here.

Opening of the sale of reserve seat tickets, which are scaled at $1.00, $1.50, $2.00, $3.00 and $4.40 and will be sold at the Auditorium Box Office, will be announced in a few days. Further detail of the Jolson Concert, such as the program, supporting artists, etc., as it will be given at the Auditorium on January 27, will be made known later in the week.

SOPHIAN CLUB.

The next regular meeting of the Sophian Club will be held on Wednesday afternoon, January 22. Mrs. Fletcher Davis will be hostess for the afternoon. Miss Bess Brucks will discuss local color in Ralvaag's "Peder Victorious" and Mrs. C. J. Monkhouse will give an analysis of the book.
